Correction

The PPSA distinction was inadvertently added to Howard Zatulove's name in the June Journal. Howard's name should have been listed without the PPSA distinction. The Journal apologizes for the mistake.

PSA Conference

The annual PSA International Conference is one of the highlights of the year for many PSA members. This year's conference, running September 27 through October 3, is in one of the most beautiful parts of the United States, West Yellowstone, in Wyoming. Plans are well underway to make this one of the best conferences ever, and the website is here to help you get the most out of it.

Conference Overview

The conference can be accessed through one of the main row of buttons on any page on the site: "PSA Conference." This page takes you to an overview of the current conference. You can also reach it by going directly to: <http://psa-photo.org/index.php?2015-psa-conference>

There are several links available from this page, all pertaining to the conference. Some information, such as the name and address of the conference hotel, can be found directly on this overview page. You can also register for the conference from this page.

Each of the present conference links is available at the top of each conference page in this section. The left pane has links to future and past conferences as well as conference speaker notes from past conferences.

Conference Hotels

If you haven't booked your hotel for the conference, pay attention to this page. It lists hotels that currently have vacancies, and it is constantly updated. This page lists the date it was last updated. Consult the map in the top right corner of the page to see how far your chosen hotel is from the conference hotel.

Conference Schedule

There's so much going on at the conference that at times it's hard to choose what to do. Many events are repeated and you can choose to go to something that's offered only once over something you could attend at another time. To avoid missing something you really want to do, plan your days out ahead of time using the Conference Schedule. Of course you can change your mind at any time, but a little planning can make your days less chaotic. The conference schedule includes meetings, programs, workshops, tours, and other conference events.

Other Important Links

Conference Tours: Lists descriptions of all tours offered, including times, dates, and prices.

Conference Meals: Provide the menu for each day, including the banquet.

Conference Logos: Download one in color or black & white to advertise the conference in your local club brochure, on your website, or any other appropriate place.

Conference Registration: There is a direct link to the registration page from the conference overview page and from a link called Conference Registration (at the top of the page). This gives you the information you will need to register plus a link to our registration software.

Airport Transportation: This is a special link created for Yellowstone, since much of the ground transportation ends on September 30. Check this important page if you will not be renting your own car and will need transportation to get to or from one of the nearby airports. This is another page that will be updated as more information becomes available. ■
