Club Lists

The PSA membership consists of more than 500 member clubs, covering 40+ countries, including the United States. Each time a new club joins, its name is added to the PSA site, along with a link to the club's website. We also list the city where the club is headquartered and a meeting location, if known.

Where Clubs are Listed

A link to area clubs is included on every country/state/province page, so long as it contains PSA member clubs. To access this link, go to member areas, select the appropriate home page (i.e. the England Membership Home Page) and then select the Clubs and Councils link on that page. That will take you to the England Clubs, Councils & Federations page. To get a feel for the rest of the clubs in the United Kingdom, select the United Kingdom Clubs link found at the top of the page—this will bring you to the United Kingdom section on the member clubs list.

Any updates to these clubs are made simultaneously to both lists.

What the Listings Contain

The numbers that appear in parentheses next to a country or state/province name indicate the date the list was last modified. (No numbers means there have been no changes in 2015.) As it is on the rest of the PSA website, a name that is in bold red is linked to a website. If the name is not bold, it means that PSA does not have the club's website on file. (Club representatives—if you want to have your club's website linked, please login to the PSA website and use the Update link to update your club's information.) Council names begin with an asterisk (*).

If information on this list is incorrect, please let us know by using the Update form. If your information is correct in the database but the website has goofed, please write to webmaster@psa-photo.org and let us fix the issue (with our apologies).

Some clubs list the location of their meetings—this can be helpful for others who are seeking a club in their area. Consider updating your listing to include this information as well.

How you can use these lists

PSA member lists can help you locate a club in your area, especially if you would like to participate in one of the many division interclub competitions. Some of them may have activities and events that welcome non-members and others may be a good resource for you if you are planning to visit a new area. Most clubs welcome new members, but the best way for you to find out all the particulars is to visit their websites. Many PSA individual members are also members of local clubs, since there are different benefits for each. If you are shopping for a club to join, we encourage you to join a PSA-member club. Use the PSA website to help your search. ■
